Education Abroad Committee
Proposed Revision to Bylaw 67.1

To the Academic Senate, Los Angeles Division:

The Education Abroad Committee (EAC) submits for approval a proposal with two amendments to Bylaw 67.1 that would a) rename the committee to accurately reflect its wider responsibilities beyond the campus Education Abroad Program (EAP), and b) increase the membership requirement to nine from five, to bring it into line with the other campuses of the University of California.

Justification
The first amendment renames the committee from Education Abroad to International Education. This is consistent with systemwide practice, exemplified in the name of the University Committee on International Education (UCIE).

The second amendment brings UCLA’s EAC membership in line with the other campuses. It should consist of nine members as follows:

- 5 appointed Senate faculty who will be voting members.
- 2 student representatives (1 undergraduate student & 1 graduate student)
- 2 ex-officio members (EAP Faculty Director & EAP Administrative Director)

The proposed membership adds three voting Senate faculty members and brings the bylaw up-to-date to include the EAP Administrative Director and the two student representatives who regularly attend the meetings.

Rules and Jurisdiction
The Committee on Rules and Jurisdiction has reviewed the proposed revision to Academic Senate Bylaw 67.1 and finds the changes to be consonant with the Code of the Senate.
