In Re: Proposed Revisions to APM 028

Dear Mary,

Thank you for the opportunity to review the proposed revisions to the Academic Personnel Manual (028). Upon receipt of your request, I invited all Senate Committees to opine, and specifically requested that the Council on Research, the Council on Academic Personnel, and the Faculty Welfare Committee opine. The Executive Board, which speaks for UCLA's Senate on such matters, also reviewed the proposal.

After careful review of the matter and of the responses from COR and FWC (please see attached; CAP declined to opine), the Executive Board raised no objections to the proposal.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Michael S. Goldstein".

DATE: April 29, 2009
TO: Michael Goldstein, Chair, Academic Senate
FROM: Council on Research Meeting April 10, 2009
RE: Senate Item for Review: Proposed Amendment to APM 028

UCLA's Council on Research engaged in discussion during review of the amendment to APM 028 that addresses requirements of the California Government Code which requires that state agencies have conflict of interest codes. The proposed changes reflect changes in the governing statute and its implementing regulations as well as changes in University administrative titles. Some non-substantive grammatical corrections have also been included. The revisions are technical and do not constitute a comprehensive review of APM 028.

Members of the Council on Research attending the April 10, 2009 meeting voted unanimously in favor of endorsing the proposed revisions as written.

Sincerely,

Hans Schollhammer
Professor and Chair, UCLA COR

Re: Senate Item for Review: Proposed Amendments to APM 028

---

The Faculty Welfare Committee reviewed the proposed revisions to Academic Personnel Policy 028, Academic Appointees Disclosure of Financial Interest in Private Sponsors of Research at their meeting on April 14, 2009. The committee found the report to be well written and support the proposed revisions.
